

'Rock Warrior' – Marcus von Rittberg

Verse 1

Up the wall
Hundreds of feet
Steeper than steep
Like spiders that creep

Wind is cold
Hands are hurt
She knows it is real
If there's blood and there's dirt

Warrior's soul
She quiets her mind
Battle within
A seeker will find

"We'll conquer the world
Climb every mountain"
He smiles, holds her tight
Dream the same dream at night

When they sleep
Under the sky
See them waving
It's time for good bye

Chorus

I saw a warrior in the sky
For a moment, I thought I could fly
A warrior in the sky
For a moment, I thought I could fly

Where do we go from here?
Where did we come from?
For a blink of an eye
Was wondering why

Where do we go from here?
Where did we come from?
For a blink of an eye
We thought we knew why

I saw a warrior in the sky
For a moment, I thought I could fly
A warrior in the sky
For a moment, I thought I could fly

Verse 2

The sun is hot
So's the stone
Her smile is cool
Torn muscles, broken bones

She's climbing, she's dancing
He follows, he leads
The wall and each other
All that they need

The stars are hers
Reaching higher and higher
She keeps at bay
Her never-ending fire

World's turning fast

So is her heart
Her spirit is free
Her life is her art

The smell of earth
She's coming home
Her heart is warm
Her fire tells the poem

Chorus

I saw a warrior in the sky
For a moment, I thought I could fly
A warrior in the sky
For a moment, I thought I could fly

Where do we go from here?
Where did we come from?
For a blink of an eye
Was wondering why

Where do we go from here?
Where did we come from?
For a blink of an eye
We thought we knew why

I saw a warrior in the sky
For a moment, I thought I could fly
A warrior in the sky
For a moment, I thought I could fly
